Every 'stray' has its day

Stray dog rescued from the metro track near Juna Koba stn after halting power supply

The uninterrupted power supply for metro rail operation was halted for around 15 on Thursday morning as a stray dog, which was unable to find a way out over the past few days, was to be rescued, sources revealed on Saturday.

The hapless dog was trapped on the metro train route for several days and had been straying ever since.

Determined to rescue the canine, the metro officials on Thursday temporarily stopped the power supply and, in coordination with the Uttarayan Foundation's Mission Safe team, rescued it from the track near Juna Koba station and handed it over to CNCD Ahmedabad for further medical care.
